SEVERE WEATHER ALERT

Members of the Palm Island Local Disaster Management Group participated in a weather briefing with the District Disaster Management group today.

The Bureau of Meteorology has advised that from Friday 31st January 2025 (tomorrow) through to Tuesday 4th February 2025, there is forecast severe weather for Palm Island and region.

This Saturday and Sunday, the forecast is for wind gusts above 30/40knots (60-80kms/hr) and heavy rain, with daily falls over 100m.

Please take all precautions, continue with your disaster preparations (such as reviewing household disaster management plan, storing of long life foods and cleaning up your yard) and make sure you and your family are safe.
